Dear Sir,

APPLICATION FOR THE POST OF SENIOR LECTURER - REF NO: SL/06/2024-25

Kindly review my application for the position of Senior Lecturer- Ref No: SL/06/2024-25. This is based on my academic training, work experience, positive attitude and personal skill set.

I graduated with First-Class Honors in Bachelor of Arts, where I majored in Communications. I am also a Master's Degree holder in Communications Studies from the University of Nairobi. In addition, I have completed my doctoral coursework in Communications and Information Management and have started the research component.

My experience as a Communications lecturer for the past 15 years has provided me with an opportunity to continuously adjust my facilitation skills to the level of the participants. My tenure at the School has allowed me to facilitate sessions with diverse participants, from young interns joining public service to very experienced board directors. Further, I have participated in training needs assessment, curriculum development process as well as other research and consultancy assignments.

My previous work experience in the humanitarian space honed my skills in stakeholder management, documentation and reporting. This has proven useful in undertaking tasks that require partnerships such as the former First Lady, H.E. Margaret Kenyatta's Speech Book which was developed in collaboration with the Beyond Zero Secretariat and Public Sector Board Induction Programme which was in partnership with State Corporations Advisory Committee.

I have been tasked with sensitive tasks such as handling examinations both at my previous and current employment at internal examinations and examinations administered by the Kenya National Examinations Council and the Public Service Commission. This has instilled a high sense of integrity and professionalism.

I look forward to serving the School in the capacity of a Senior Lecturer.

Yours faithfully,

Fatma Amiyo Mohammed
