Dear Sir,

RE: JOB APPLICATION AS A SENIOR LECTURER

I humbly submit my application for the above-mentioned vacant position. With my more than 15 years of progressively responsible experience, I offer a distinguished career earmarked by accomplishments in Training and leading information technology across broad disciplines, including hardware, software, development, testing, production support, project management, database technologies, vendor relationships, strategic planning, staff development, promoting change and improvement, and technology implementation.

My proven track record includes Training, Research, Consultancy and implementing new technology projects and developing technology strategies that align with business needs while ensuring that products meet customer needs and corporate goals. In my new position, Kenya School of Government will gain from my strong sense of dedication, solid work ethic, teamwork skills, and ability to find solutions.

Currently, I work with the Kenya School of Government as a Lecturer and the Head of Information and Communication Technology in the Mombasa Campus. Attached are my Curriculum Vitae and copies of my certificates, Transcripts and Testimonials.

Thank you in advance and I appreciate your consideration.

Yours Faithfully,

GIDEON WANDABWA
