NAIROBI.

Dear Sir,

APPLICATION FOR A JOB AS A SENIOR PRINCIPAL LECTURER (KSG 4, REF. NO. SPL/03/2024-25)

I refer to the internal advertisement on the declaration of vacant positions. With a wealth of experience in training and learning institutions, both in public service and earlier in the private sector in different capacities, particularly my current role as a Principal Lecturer, it is my pleasure to submit my application for the position of Senior Principal Lecturer (KSG 4, Ref. No. SPL/03/2024-25).

My interaction with different functionalities in training, research, and consultancy in my current role as a principal lecturer at the Kenya School of Government makes me uniquely sensitive to the needs and concerns of the school and course participants. In this position, I have participated in the development and/or review of training curricula; developed training programs; spearheaded monitoring and evaluation of training programs, implemented research and consultancy assignments; participated in the delivery of training programs; supervised research participants undertaking senior management course and post-graduate students; participated in the development of policy briefs; coordinated the development of research proposals amongst research teams; disseminated research findings through conferences and journal articles publications alongside examination setting, question items moderation, examination marking, and results processing. With twenty-four (24) published journal articles, two (2) books, and a book chapter, alongside acquired practical experience, I see notable opportunities to align myself and achieve measurable and mutually beneficial success as a Senior Principal Lecturer.

You'll find in me a self-driven, assertive person with a strong sense of personal responsibility devoted to achieving success. Throughout the years, I have demonstrated my reliability with a record of success in achieving results, I'm confident my combination of drive and professionalism will continue to provide the school with an invaluable resource. The time is ideal for a new challenge, and I am ready to take my expertise and talent to a new level; It would be my pleasure to actively contribute to the school's future successes; therefore, the prospect of being a Senior Principal Lecturer offers an attractive challenge. I believe I can contribute experiences unique to this role.

In addition to my 15+ years of experience. I hold a Doctor of Philosophy (Ph.D.) degree in Business Administration and Management from Dedan Kimathi University of Technology (HR Option) (2019), a Master of Business Administration (HR-Option) (2011), and a Bachelor of Arts (First Class Honours) from Kenyatta University (2004); a certificate in Project Management from the International Business Management Institute – Berlin, Germany (2020), Strategic Leadership Development Program (SLDP) (2019) and Senior Management Course (2015) from Kenya School of Government and Certified Human Resource Professional (CHRP-K).

I welcome an opportunity to discuss my suitability and qualifications in an interview. I have enclosed my detailed CV, academic and professional certificates, and testimonials for further information.

Yours faithfully,
